

Project Plan - Assignment Tracker

This web application will be designed to store and list the users assignments to help the user keep track of all of their assignments. The website will implement full CRUD (Create, Read, Update, Delete) applications so that the user is able to add newly received assignments, update assignments in case any changes have been made to the due date or other details, and the user should also be able to delete entries, which will primarily be used in the case of completed assignments. The Assignment list will contain information such as assignment name, course name, and due date. The website needs to be simple and carry enough information so that it is useful to the user as a reminder, but not unnecessarily informative so that it doesn't overwhelm the user.
